For more than a century, South Carolina's oldest public building has served our state communities as a center for historical interpretation. Each year this colonial museum connects thousands of people with the stories of those who shaped our state and nation. You're invited to join our long tradition of preservation and education.

DID YOU KNOW?

We annually partner with dozens of organizations to provide programming.

The Powder Magazine's professionally designed programming provides educational opportunities to all ages! Through hands-on learning, student groups step back in time with standards-based field experiences. Our annual Fall Lunch & Lecture Series and Saturday Presentations afford families the opportunity to enjoy exclusive academic programs.

Help us to ensure that this 300-year-old arsenal continues to serve without a misfire. Please make a tax-deductible contribution today!
